NATIONAL HILL CLIMB CHAMPIONSHIP - MH/3 - 28TH OCTOBER, 1984

The hill is located at Stanhope, Co. Durham approximately 15 miles north of Barnard Castle and 20 miles west of Durham City. It is accessed via Scotch Corner and Barnard Castle from the South East (A1) and via Tebay, Brough and Middleton-in-Teesdale from the South West (M6).

The climb is on the B6278 to the north of Stanhope and is known locally as Crawleyside after the village of that name part way up the hill. It is frequently used as a prime hill in the Milk Race and is rated as a 1st Category climb for the King of the Mountains competition.

For the RTTC National Championship the length of the hill will be 2.65 miles. The start will be a short distance above the 30mph speed limit derestriction sign on the outskirts of Stanhope and the finish will be at the open moorland top of the hill. Typical of Durham hills the climb starts with a steep climb - average gradient 1-in-7 for the first 3/4 miles - then progressively less steep to the top. After the initial steep climb the gradient averages 1-in-10 (in a slightly stepped climb) to the 1.85 mile point where there is a short descent before the final sweeping climb up a shallower slope to the top.

After the first 3/4 mile the hill is very open and wind strength and direction on Championship day will play a significant part in determining the severity of the hill.

ACCOMMODATION

Competitors requiring overnight accommodation will be expected to make their own arrangements. Copies of the Durham County Council ACCOMMODATION GUIDE 1984 are available from the Event Secretary on request. This booklet contains an adequate list of accommodation addresses (and prices) within easy travelling distance of the event.
